

Sage Advice from the Roundhouse....

Natives for POOLSIDE

The plants chosen for the poolside landscape must meet specific criteria. In addition to being beautiful, they mustn't be overly messy, nor should they be too attractive to stinging insects. A drought tolerant poolside of mixed native plants is an appropriate way to add softness, texture and beauty to your backyard oasis. The native plants listed below, with their unique grey-green, fragrant foliage, and subtle flowers are perfect choices for the poolside landscape.
